BATTLE OF THE BEERS - Round Two

Shakespeare Stout trounced McTarnahan's Amber (541 to 302) on Wednesday in our first round of the Battle of the Beers. Thanks! This is a big week for Rogue, and being rogues, we want to win, so we need YOU to vote, again!

Today, Thursday, March 7th is round two for Rogue Shakespeare Stout, pitted against Bridgeport IPA, another classic brew from Portland, or as Michael Jackson refers to PDX, Munich on the Willamette. Which beer will you vote for? Polls are open until 9pm PST today.

We are counting on YOU to burn more bandwidth ~ VOTE TODAY ~ voice your opinion on-line. The results will be posted tomorrow, and if Rogue wins today, Shakespeare will be up against Victory's Hop Devil. To vote, visit: <http://www.realbeer.com/battleofthebeers/>

ROGUE-isms

"If you don't listen to anybody else, you know, things are a lot simpler." Jack Joyce, from an interview with Alan Moen, August 1999.
